TUESDAY January 22 1861.

Spirit of the Morning Press The Intelligencer refers to the bogus dispatches circulated throughout Georgia and Missouri just previous to the meeting of the Conventions, and warns the people of Virginia to "beware of startling and astounding reports on or before the 4th of next month."

The Constitution urges the border States t secede, and regards their continued connection with the Northern States as fatal to their interests and destructive to their property.

The Republican argues the fallacy of the assumption that divisions of the Union must be by State lines, and says, if Virginia goes out of the Union and Maryland remains in it, Virginia will be compelled to give up her territory east of the Chesapeake, and so much of it as will give Maryland the secure enjoyment of her railroad approaches to the Ohio river on the west.

ID Gov. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, immediately after his inauguration wrote a letter to Governor Hicks, of Maryland, in which he expresses his admiration of the resolution of Governor Hicks to maintain the laws, and promises his hearty cooperation in all undertakings towards preserving the Union. Hon. R. M. Palmer, Hon. Gideon J. Ball, and Morton McMichael, Esq., were appointed by Gov. Curtin to wait upon Gov. Hicks to confer upon the various topics of the day, and to explain the feelings of the citizens of Pennsylvania in relation to the sectional difficulties. Gov. Hicks replied in a short letter, in which he states that the people of Maryland are Unionloving and law-abiding, and guaranties the maintenance of the Constitution and the laws as far as it is in the power of Maryland to preserve them.

COMMISSIONERS FROM OHIO TO THE BORDER STATES .- In the Ohio House of Representatives, on Thursday last, Mr. Wright, of Hamilton, introduced a crisis preamble and resolutions, authorizing the Governor, with the concurrence of the Senate, to appoint commissioners from Ohio. to proceed immediately to the Capitals of Kentucky, Missouri, Virginia, Maryland and Tennessee, to confer with the respective Executive authorities and Legislatures of those States, upon the condition of the country, and endeavor to persuade them from meeting current attempts to dissolve the Union. It was laid over for discussion.

We learn from Springfled, Illinois, that Mr. Kellogg, member of Congress from that State, has arrived there on a mission to the President elect to obtain a definite and authoritative announcement from Mr. Lincoln with regard to the compromise propositions in Congress. On the result of this mission, it is stated, will depend the future course of Republicans in Congress. A dispatch from St. Louis expresses the opinion that the Republicans, with Mr. Lincoln's sanction, will propose the holding of a National Convention and the restoration of the Missouri line to California.

Mississippi goes out of the Union with more convenience than South Carolina. The terms she makes are capital. She has no port of entry, and therefore cannot come into collision with the Government in the matter of revenue collection; and as to the other point of difficulty, the post office system, her Convention has provined that no change shall be made, and permits the United States to pay the expenses of its main-

ALABAMA -We learn from the Montgomery papers that the minority of the committee which reported the secession ordinance made a counter report, which was rejected by a vote of 46 to 54, and that the vote on the question of submitting the action of the Convention to a vote of the people stood 47 to 53. The secession ordinance eventually passed by a vote of 61 to 39. Telegraphic accounts state that it has not yet been signed.

The chap who writes Charleston letters to the New York Tribune from the corner of Nassau and Spruce streets, New York city, makes some terrible blunders occasionally. Thus he let his imagination loose the other day in description of the balmy spring atmosphere there at a date when Charleston was suffering some of the most diszgreeable weather known for years. A bad guess, ID The Georgia Convention have adopted an explanatory preamble to their Ordinance of Secession, and, thus amended, it has been signed by nearly all the members, including Hon. A. H Stephens, Ex-Governor Johnson, and others The Georgia delegates are expected to withdraw from Congress to-day.

Wendell Phillips, the Abolitionist, delivered a speech at Boston on Sunday, in which he denounced Senator Seward, declared himself for disunion, and expressed the hope that all the slave States would leave the Union. His chief argument was that disunion was desirable b cause it would abolish slavery.

From the publishers and from French & Richstein, of this city, we have the "Tribune Almanac" for 1861, a publication usually relied upon as authoritative in all matters of political

FORT PICKENS.—This fort, near Pensacola, and now in possession of the United States troops, to the number of between 200 and 300, was designed to mount 212 guns, and is an immensely strong position, and commands the entire harbor. The Pensacola Observer says:

Pensscola Observer says:

If we are to have war, the seizure of this stronghold is of course, of the first importance, for unless it is occupied by us it will secure to the enemy a hase of operations along our whole gulf coast, and keep open a road right into the heart of the South, which cannot be obstructed by any fixed fortifications. Once within the gates of the harbor, and an army could be disembarked at any point on the bay which it might select. It could run up beyond bay which it might select. It could run up beyond could run up beyond the Escambia river, and land many hours ahead of any opposing force which might be at Pensa-cola, beside placing a wide river between it and the latter—or even two rivers, the Escambia and Blackwater—by going far enough, up. Hence, with a start of at least forty-eight hours, it could march into interior Alabama. An enemy holding Fort Pickens could rendezvous a naval force there and keep up a blockade of all the ports of the ports of the Gulf, unless we could meet it on the

THE POSITION OF MARYLAND -A committee of members of the Sons of Temperance from Balti-more, who visited Washington on Saturday in connection with business of the Order, called in a body on the President to pay their respects. On learning that they were from Baltimore they were greeted with great cordiality, and the President spoke with warm commendation of the patriotism evinced by the citizens of Maryland in the present alarming crisis He also highly commended the unswerving devotion of Gov. Hicks to the Union, and expressed his decided approval of the course he has pursued, thus "erecting Maryland as a breakwater to the waves of disunion that were breaking over the Southern States." The interbreaking over the Southern States." The interview was a most pleasing one to all parties concerned, the President expressing the hope that the Union would yet be preserved.—Balt. American.

CONGRESSIONAL.

On motion of Mr. Seward, the bill for the admission of Kansas was taken up.

Nr Fitch renewed the amendment offered by him on Saturday, and urged its passage upon the committee. [This amendment provides that all the laws of the United States not locally inapplicable, shall have the same force and effect as in any other State, and also that the State shall be made into a judicial district, with a district court with like powers as that of Minnesota] The question being put on the adoption of the amendment, the yeas were 29, nays 28. So the amendment was adopted. The bill was then taken from the committee and reported to the Senate, and put upon its pas-sage, and passed by the following vote—yeas 36,

The resolutions of Mr. Crittenden were then brought up before the Senate, and after a protracted debate (no action having been had upon them) the Senate adjourned.

House -After our reporter left-Mr. Colfax introduced a bill which proposes to authorize the Postmaster General to discontinue the postal service in the seceding States where the operations of the postal law with reference to existing contracts, &c., are interfered with. Referred to the Committee on Post Office and Post

Mr. English offered a resolution to the effect that in the present alarming condition of the country it was the imperative duty of Congress to take immediate steps for preserving peace and maintaining the Union by removing all causes of sectional differences. And to that end Congress believes the Crittenden resolutions would be a just and honorable compromise, involving no sacrifice of principle from any party. And that the Committee of Thirty-three be instructed to report without delay the necessary measures t carry those resolutions into effect.

On motion of Mr. English, a vote was taken upon seconding the demand for the previous question upon his resolutions—resulting yeas 67, nays

Mr. Morris offered a resolution to the effect that the Committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire into the propriety of amending the neutrality law so as to prevent persons in one State from fitting out military expeditions to aid persons in other States when they had declared themselves out of the Union, and to occupy a position outside of the rightful authority of the laws of the United States. Referred to the Judiclary Committee.

Mr. Corwin then took the floor, and addressed the House in a lengthy speech. He referred to the difficulties of 1832, in which South Carolina took such a prominent part, and denied the right of any State to absolve their allegiance to the Federal Government upon any plea which they may be pleased to get up. He denied that repub-licans had any intention to excite insurrection, or to make war upon southern institutions, and said that any man who by any means sought to stir up insurrection, should and would be seized and punished. He referred them to the vast uncultivated but fertile fields of Texas as being more territory than they could take up with their slaves in many years.

Mr. Millson, representing the minority of the committee, then obtained the floor, and in a short speech deprecated the sectional strife now raging, and said that Virginia would stand by Constitu tion and the laws. He hoped that after these dif-ficulties had passed away, the historian writing the history of these times, would look back upon them as the era when first commenced the real happiness and glory of the Republic.

The House then adjourned.

TUESDAY, January 22. SENATE.-Mr. Seward presented a memorial from soldiers of the war of 1812, praying pensions. Referred Also, a memorial of 746 citizens of New York. praying peace and the maintenance of the Union: likewise, a similar memorial of 18,000 citizens of New York city.

Mr. Saulsbury presented resolutions of the Legislature of Delaware, in favor of the Critten-den amendment. Laid on the table, and ordered to be printed. The Vice President said that no minute of the withdrawal of certain Senators from the Senate appeared on the Journal for the reason that no paper in relation to the question had been submitted to the Senate. He asked the instructions of the Senate in regard to the matter. Mr. Fitch thought it could occasion no practical difficulty. The chairman of the committee could report the absence of these Senators, and bave their places filled as for vacancy. Mr. Douglas thought that the Senators were no longer members of the Senate. Whatever might be the right of a State to secede, the right of Senators to withdraw was undoubted.

Mr. Wilson thought that these gentlemen were still members of the Senate. Mr. Benjamin said that the Journal of the Sen ate should be a faithful transcript of its proceedings. Certain proceedings in open session yester. y were not recorded on the Journal. He moved therefore, to correct the Journal in that particular. Mr Seward thought that the record of these proceedings was more honored in the breach than in the observance. He hoped that their seats would be left vacant, that they might resume them in their own good time.

Mr. Fessenden thought the Senators had resigned.

Mr. Hunter did not believe the Senators bad resigned. They had withdrawn because they believed they had no longer a right to sit here. Mr. Douglas moved to amend Mr. Benjamin's

Mr. Seward moved to lay on the table. The debate was continued by Messrs. Mason, Hunter, Douglas, and Benjamin. Mr. Seward's motion was agreed to.

House .- After the transaction of some routine Mr. Whitely asked leave to present a memorial from the citizens of Delaware praying the adop-tion of the Crittenden resolutions; referred to the Committee of Five.

Mr. Barris, of Md , asked leave to present a memorial signed by 17,000 citizens of his State praying be adoption of the propositions of the border State committee; laid on the table.

Mr. Hindman offered an amendment to the report of the Committee of Thirty-three. He did not approve of either the Crittenden resolutions or the propositions of the Border State Committee. Objection being made, the amendment was not received.

Mr. Colfax reported back from the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads the bill offered by him on yesterday, in relation to the postal service in South Carolina, and moved that it be put upon its passage.

Mr. Branch offered an amendment, providing for the suspension of all Federal laws in the States We have received that indispensible for all that have seceded from the Union, (and those Washingtonians, the Congressional Directory for that shall secede in the meantime,) until the 1st of January, 1862 Not received. Mr. Stevens, of Pa , offered an amendment, empowering the President to suspend all laws relative to southern ports of entry, and providing that all vessels entering those ports may be seized and the parties entering tried at any district court in the United States; the vessel and cargo to be equally divided between the captors and the Federal Government. Not received. Mr. Sherman moved that the bill offered by Mr. Colfax be postponed until one week from next Thursday; agreed to.

Mr. Colfax reported from the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, a bill establishing additional mail service in Washington Territory;

Mr. Bingham took the floor, and proceeded to nedress the House upon the seizure of Federal property in seceding States.

If it really be a superior article, and there is much reason to think so, the prejudice in many cases just against Patent Medicines should not effect it; and the proprietors of the medicine bring before the public good evidence of its beneficial effect, from some of our most respectable and reliable citizens, who have long used the article. Jno Wells Simpson, Esq., of this village, to whom references was allowed to be made in the advertisement of the Balsam, at the request of the proprietors, authorizes us to say that he has used the Balsam in his family for the lett ten years, and has found it, from his experience, to be very valuable remedy for coughs and colds. A trial might satisfy many of its beneficial effects.—Lawrenceville Herald, May 18, 1860.

behind time. San Francisco, Jan. 5.—The proclamation of the President, setting apart yesterday for a day of humiliation, fasting and prayer, only reached this city for publication on the day named, consequently but little preparation was made for its observance. The Custom House, Post Office, and other public offices were closed, and the courts refrained from business.

The latest accounts from Sacramento represent the city as crowded with politicians of all grades in anticipation of the meeting of the Legislature on the 7th. Gov. Denver seems to have the most positive support for the Senatorship; but it is stated that there are friends of the late Senator Broderick among the Douglas members, who will spare no effort to defeat Gov. Denver.

Mrs. Kitty Gerkin was murdered at her residence in Sacramento, this morning, it is supposed for her money.

The annual statistics of the State are prepared for publication, and show remarkable progress during the fiscal year: 30,700 passengers arrived at San Francisco and 14,100 departed-a gain of population by immigration seaward of 16,000. The estimated overland immigration is 50,000 to 60,000-being small on account of the Indian hostilities

The gold export falls off several millions from last year, but this deficiency is compensated by the generally increased exports of the State. The amount of treasure from the mines fully equals any other year. The value of the principal State products experted from San Francisco in 1860 is as follows:—Barley, $150,000; bread, $280,000; fish, $48,000; flour, $649,000; furs, $15.000; gold, $42,325,000; hides, $600,000; lumber, $91,000; oats, $120,000; potatoes, $29,000; quicksilver, $320,000; skins, $29,000; silver ore, $416,000; tallow, $56,000; wheat, $1,854,000; wine, $30,000; wool, $392,000. The total exports of the State, other than gold, are valued at $8,732,000, against $5,533,000 in 1859, and $4,780,000 in 1858 San Francisco was thrown into a state of unusual excitement on New Year's day, by the killing of Samuel L. Newell, editor of the Democratic Signal, of Placer county, by Horace Smith, a lawyer of considerable position in same county. Newell is charged with having slandered Smith's wife, which so inceased him that be followed his intended victim to San Francisco in company with his wife's brother, who is the somewhat-noted Judge Hardy. Newell was stabbed several times by Smith, so that he died in a few-minutes, without making any resistance. Smith was formerly Mayor of Sacramento. He has given himself up to the authorities, and is now in jail. Newell was formerly a compositor in the office of the Philadelphia Inquirer, and prior to that lived in Balti-

Another tragic affair occured in Sacramento on the same day. A person named Com Diernay, who had just returned from the Washoe mines, became suspicious that one Wm. H. Cassidy had seduced his wife during his absence, and at once armed himself to kill her and her supposed seducer. Meeting Cassidy in the street, he com-menced firing. The first shot hit Dr. J. R. Boyce, an old and highly respected citizen, inflicting a wound which will probably prove mortal. Diernay con inued to fire upon Cassidy, who retreated and escaped unburt, after being chased a distance of three blocks and repeatedly fired at by his infuriated assailant. Diernay was arrested and odged in jail.

YANKEE DOODLE .- The Mobile Register says : That tune (Yankee Doodle) was always a musical abomination, unworthy of a place in the national repertoire. We have never beard it since we were a boy, on any public occasion, without indignation. We never could get on our feet when we have seen audiences at theatres and elsewhere rise to it. It was ever a cold bath to every throb of patriotic emotion, ever made our flesh creep and our soul sink into the bottom of our boots-not on account of its name, "Yankee Doodle," but because it is a mean, sneaking, belittling, contemptible tune. If we were on the eve of battle and were at all doubtful whether to stand or fly, we believe the sound of that abominable strain would cide the question, and we should heels.

THE DELAWARE AND MARYLAND RAILROAD -This most important adjunct of the Delaware and the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad, is proceeding with unexampled rapidity, under charge of Wm. H. Dilworth, the chief engineer. In a letter just received from him. dated Kenton, Delaware, he states that the termini of the road are Smyrna, Del., and Greensborough Md. Five mlles of the track, extending from Smyrna station to Kenton, a little village in Kent county, are already laid and ballasted, and now ready for the cars. A constant force of about twenty-five men are carrying it forward at an average rate of one mile per week .- Philadelphia Press, Jan. 17.

VIRGINIA - Some apprehension is entertained lest snap judgment should be taken on Virginia. The election for delegates to her Convention is or-ordered for the 4th of February, and the meeting fixed for the 15th. It is doubted whether the necessary notice can be served in remote counties. with irregular and unfrequent mails, and where the Union feeling is strongest, in time to call out a full expression of the popular sentiment. The Secessionists live in towns, and along lines of railroad, and can readily concentrate their strength. It was more than a month after the Presidential election before the returns of several distant counties could be received, which decided the political complexion of the State.

SAVED BY Hoors -While a little girl, five years old, daughter of William Baker, of Mitchell, Canada West, was crossing the bridge which expands over the river Thames, she sat down on one of the cross bars of the side railing, and by some means or other she overbalanced herself, and fell backwards into the water, a distance of about twenty feet. The water was only one foot deep, and the bottom was covered with large stones. Still she escaped with but very slight injuries; her crinoline expanded like a sail to catch the breeze, which bore her down lightly.

Washington, Jan. 21.—A special Cabinet meeting was held here to-day to consider the object of ex-President Tyler's mission in behalf of Virginia, which looks to an agreement, both on the part of the President and the seceded States, on the part of the President and the second States, to abstain from all acts calculated to produce a collision between those States and the General Government, pending the proceedings initiated by the Virginia General Assembly having in view the adjustment of the present difficulties.

Numerous applications continue to be made by

Postmasters in the seceding States for supplies of postage stamps. Before the orders are filled an affirmative response is necessary to the question whether they do now and will continue to hold themselves responsible to the Government, in con-formity to existing laws, for all the postal revenues received by them. Orders have been filled ac-cordingly for those Postmasters following the example of the Charleston Postmaster. Thus far the postal communication in the South is unin-

The bill which passed the House on Saturday for the payment of the California war debts, ap propriates $400,000. It was incurred in the suppression of Indian hosilities, and the appropriation was made on the principle recognized as to other States for like services. The post office at Pensacola was abolished today by the Post Office Department, and the mail service discontinued. Postmasters throughout the country have been directed by the Post Office Department to send all letters addressed to Pensacola to the dead letter office. This course is in consequence of the interception of the United States mails by the Florida authorities. The Capitol police force has been doubled by direction of the Vice President and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, not because they thought this increase necessary, but in order, it is said, to quiet apprehensions in other quarters that an attempt may be made to seize the Capitol The force altogether is only about twelve men. The venerable Lieutenant-General yesterday, in conversation with a distinguished member of Congress, expressed the confidence in being able to preserve peace in this city on the 4th of March next. According to his suggestion, the committee who will accompany Mr. Lincoln will be composed of Democrats and Americans, selected from the best of their organizations.
